CENTER FOR NURSING AND REHABILITATION STRENGTHENS PATIENT SERVICES WITH TWO NEW SENIOR HIRES

Dr. Saka A. Kazeem Named Medical Director;
Winsome D. McLean-Davis Appointed Administrator

BROOKLYN, New York, October 4, 2005 – Two senior-level appointments that will enhance patient care and services have been announced by the Center for Nursing and Rehabilitation (CNR), a member of the Beth Abraham Family of Health Services.

Dr. Saka A. Kazeem, an award-winning endocrinologist, has been selected as CNR's new medical director and Ms. Winsome D. McLean-Davis, a 22-year veteran of the healthcare industry, has been appointed its new administrator.

Dr. Kazeem's key role at CNR is to elevate the quality of care throughout the organization's nursing home and for each CNR resident. In his first months as medical director, he has begun to embrace a multitude of duties contributing to the high standard of care that CNR provides. A graduate of University of Ibadan College of Medicine in Nigeria and currently engaged in private practice, Dr. Kazeem was previously an assistant clinical professor at Cornell University's Joan & Sanford I. Weill Medical College and also occupied such prestigious positions as chief of Endocrinology at St. Mary's Hospital.

As Administrator, Ms. McLean-Davis will head staff operations and training programs focusing on "person-centered" care. Creating a home environment for residents, this model continues CNR's commitment to quality patient care. A graduate of Howard University's School of Social Work and central Michigan University's health services graduate program, she has developed a strong reputation as a leader in initiating programs that integrate families into skilled nursing facilities. Ms. McLean-Davis is the recipient of numerous community service awards including a Congressional award from Congressman Edolphus Towns (Brooklyn). She will also develop annual health fairs for CNR to develop a stronger relationship with the local community.

"Dr. Kazeem and Ms. Davis' vast experience and demonstrated commitment to quality patient care will contribute to our mission of making life better for the people we serve," said Michael Fassler, president and CEO of Beth Abraham Family of Health Services. "The addition of these highly respected individuals will help us continue our tradition of providing the best patient care and services."
